1. These girls were not camera shy when a yearbook photographer caught them sitting on the quad steps.
2. Pep rallies liven up the lunch hour.
3. During a pep rally, our pint-size mascot Loanne Hizo waits for the next cheer. At football games, Loanne gives star-studded performances creating excitement in the crowds.
4. Preparing for the big burp, John Larrazabal continues slurping on his coke during this food eating activity in the quad.
5. Coordination, cooperation and careful planning make for a successful all-spirit picture.

Shooting Stars

The students and staff at Franklin High School are the stars which make our school so special. The theme Shooting Stars captures the spirit of our Panthers striving to reach their goals. The theme also reflects the constant efforts of the yearbook photographers and writers to record the star-like ideas, accomplishments and events of the 1986-87 school year. The year has been one of wonderful friendships, great spirit, exciting victories and undeniable success, all of which are part of the Panther tradition. With preparation, thought and clear goals, all Panthers are capable of Shooting for the Stars!

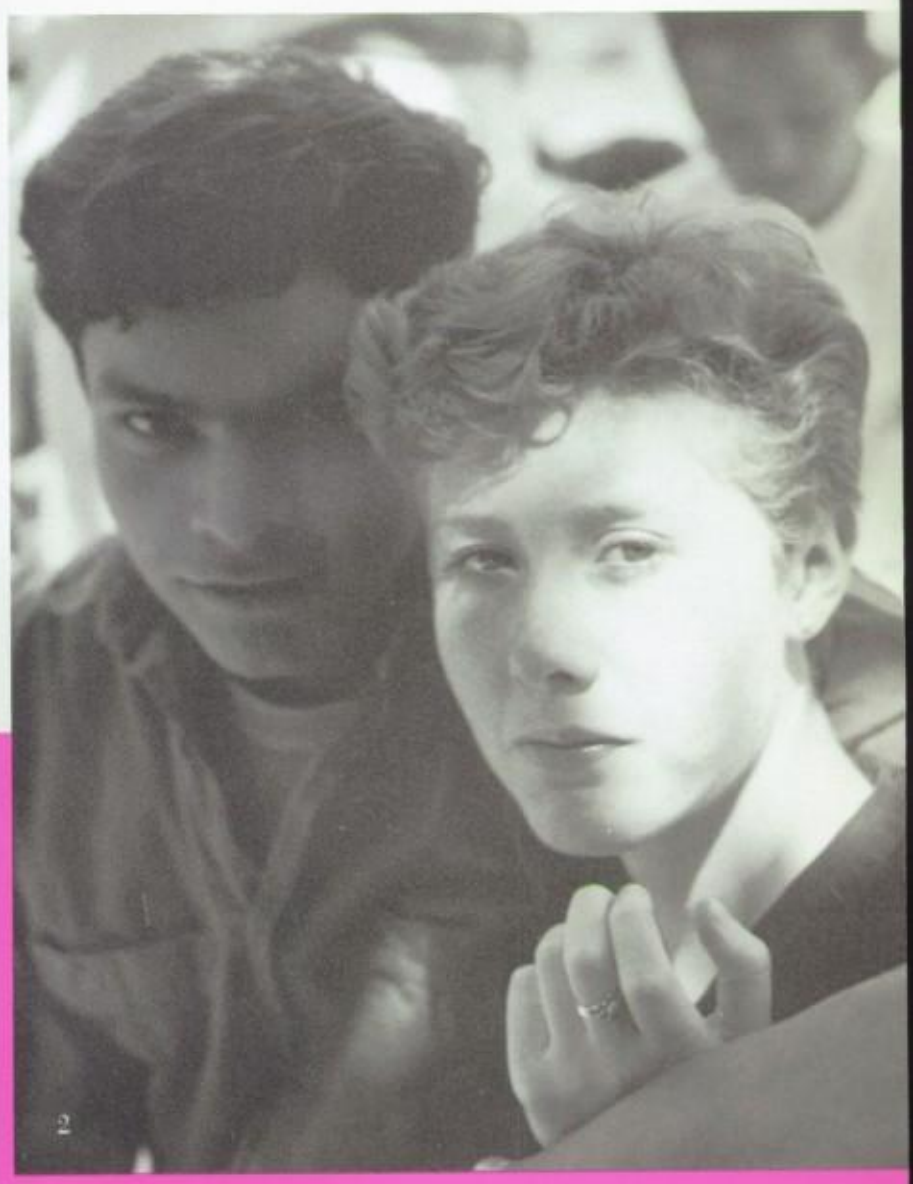
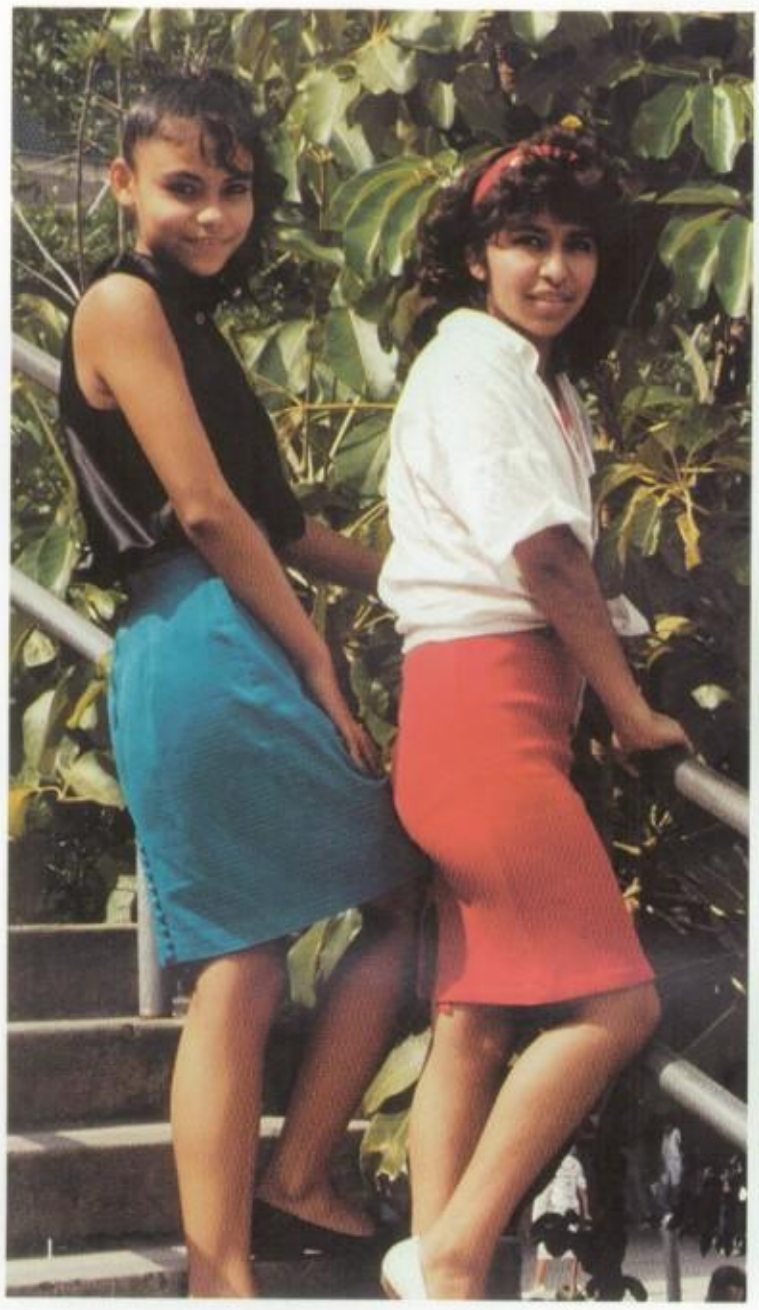
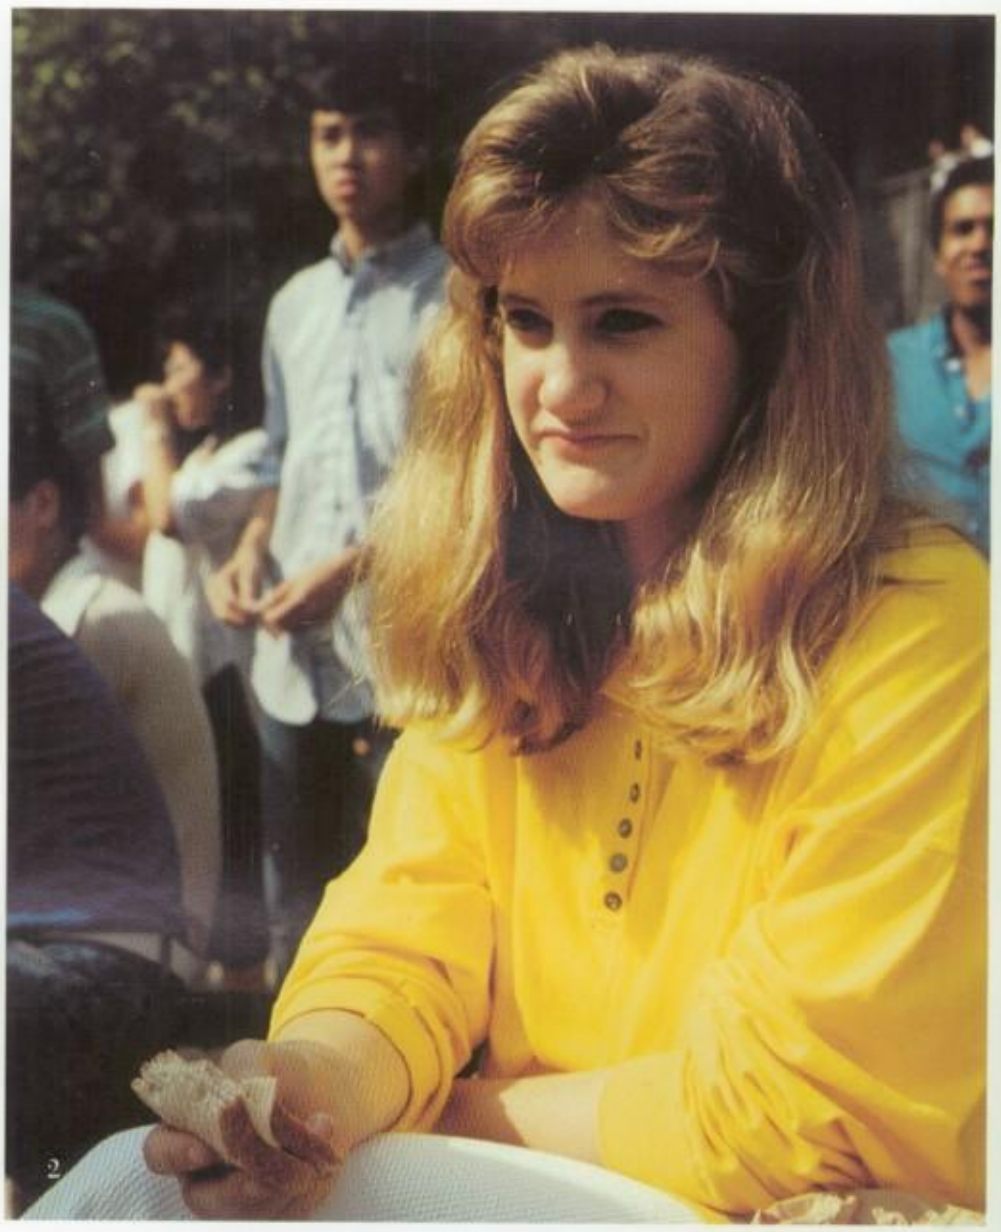
1. Halloween was a wonderful excuse for breaking the norm at Franklin. Elizabeth Espino, Deanna Boucher, Dawn Garibay and Dellmy Figueroa competed in the Costume Contest where they placed second overall.
2. After a rigorous academic morning, friends use nutrition as an opportunity to catch up on the latest gossip, plan after school activities, or just clown around.
3. Ever popular hackey sack is performed under the library. Matthew Frakes and his friends try to keep the sack in the air.

1. Marcy Davis and her partner pose at one of our legendary Franklin dances. For the second straight year, Franklin dances have been so popular that they usually sell out.
2. Adrian Pinon and Carol Tomlinson spend a thoughtful moment preparing for their next class.







1. Many students stand on the stairs and watch quad activities. These two girls and others found new places to "hang out" after the second floor became off limits this year.
2. Debra Burns relaxes while she enjoys a sandwich during lunch. Lunch time entrees for students include a cafeteria tray, candy from the student store, snacks from the "hash house," or a brown bag lunch.
3. A night on the town. Seniors attend pizza night, one of the fall semester's first senior activities.

1. A sign of the times. "Beat the Eagles" is just one of the many informative and motivational quad posters painted by Leadership, spirit groups, Senior Cabinet or art classes.
2. These revealing smiles are the smiles of Rene Alcala, Frank Quevedo, Claudia Rivera, Juan Avila, Elsa Retiz and Danny Rodriguez.
3. A view not often seen by students is Franklin at night. Students enrolled in adult school, however, earn extra credits or re-take classes. An advantage to night school is that students can often work at their own pace. Several Franklin teachers also teach night classes.

Dost thou love life?
Then do not squander time,
For that is the stuff life is made of.

Student LIFE

Shining Sabers
Twinkle in the Night

The annual Military Ball for JROTC cadets was held on Friday, November 14th. JROTC units from the Los Angeles area met at the Bonaventure Hotel for a dinner, dancing and the crowning of a king and queen from each school. Male cadets came in dress uniforms; female cadets wore evening attire. The atmosphere was formal, very much like the prom, and it was a night to remember for all in attendance. The Military Ball usually goes unrecorded in the yearbook because it occurs late in the spring semester. However, this year's Ball was scheduled early in the fall semester, allowing the yearbook to cover the event in color. The photos were provided by Mr. Ben Makuta.

1. Sgt. Richard Brandt and another JROTC instructor supervise the cadets.
2. King Vance Bennett and Queen Christine Cecil are selected by their unit to represent Franklin High.
3.& 4. The color guard assembles in preparation for the saber ceremony. The king and queen proceed through the uplifted sabers.
5. The contestants wait nervously for the judges' decision.
6. That guy looks disgusting!
7. What am I doing here?
8. I'm the prettiest cat around.
9. Judges look on with amazement and curiosity.

Ghouls and goblins gathered around the quad stage as judges carefully decided on originality and crowd popularity. What was the occasion? The event was the Halloween Costume Contest sponsored by Leadership on October 30th. Many students and staff came dressed for the occasion. The variety of costumes included a table, a nun, a pregnant man, a male maid, a king-sized teddy bear, a bag of jelly beans, a 60's hippy, and many others. Students reached new heights of creativity in their costumes.

Blood Drive Generated

More Than Pint-Sized Contributions

On November 5th, Franklin students and staff were given an opportunity to donate blood. The Red Cross blood drive took place in the school auditorium. Students who donated blood were given a form to be filled out in advance and signed by their parents. In order to give blood, students had to be seventeen years or older and were advised to eat before being summoned to the auditorium. Each student gave one pint. After blood was drawn from the students and staff, they were given orange juice, punch or cookies.

Why give blood? According to Dr. Abraham Hoffman, "I'm doing it for the goodies." Senior Eric Roeder said, "I knew there was a blood shortage. I'm afraid of needles, but donating blood is for a good cause."

The Athenians coordinated the fall semester's blood drive. It was deemed a success by all.

1. Students go through a series of tests before being eligible to donate blood. These tests include answering a questionnaire, having a normal temperature, blood pressure and giving a blood sample.
2. Members of the faculty like Ms. Marianne Gregory have the heart to give blood.
3. Helga Castro assures us of her consciousness with a smile.
4. A period of recuperation follows for each blood donor.

Students Agree

Work Experience Makes Cents

Many students, mostly seniors, choose work experience as one of their elective classes. Some have to drop a class or two to fit work experience in. But they agree, the sacrifices are necessary.

They work before, during and after school in various types of school or community related work. For example, senior Albert Garcia has a job at Safeway; Stephanie Papp works at Baker Bros. Household Retail, Inc.; Mojdeh Zamani holds a job at the Golden Salt restaurant; May de Castro works at Nordstrom's and Mervyn's; Maria Lopez has a job at Bob's Big Boy; Mike Shadrick works at Alpha Beta; and Kim Ung and Heng Ly work in the school's counseling office.

These students gain experience and earn at least minimum wage, which may go toward their saving for the prom and graduation, college tuition, or a contribution to the household expenses.

These students, some might argue, will have a better chance of completing college; they will have learned to use their time effectively. As Mojdeh Zamani said, "Working is very good discipline, and I will suggest it to my own children some day."

1. Service with a smile. Amy Manzanares serves lunch in the Eagle Rock Plaza at Cable Car Pizza to visiting Franklin students.
2. Precise measurements. Kinney's employee, Monique Walton, helps fit a young customer for new school shoes.
3. Darlene Torres works at Fashion Conspiracy and helps students dress for the prom or other festive occasions.

1. Phone home. Asmed Palomo works for Diagnostic Research, Inc. He gathers survey information for different companies over the phone.
2. Checking the price of a product is Chris Kwan who works in the Eagle Rock Plaza at the Hallmark store selling cards, note pads and other stationery supplies.
3. Working weekends is nothing new to Danny Loscos and Gary Fontan. "Super Bowl Sunday" is no exception.
4. Will Godinez enjoys his job at Karl's Toy Store. While stocking the shelves, he takes time to hug the animals.

1. Feel the beat. Standing in front of the speakers means these students won't miss a beat.
2. Two-step. Janet Fukuhara and Alvin Mendoza slip away from the Key Club refreshment stand to join the dance.
3. Faces in the crowd. Current and former students of Franklin take a moment from dancing to pose for the camera.
4. A small circle of friends. With purses in the center, students join in group dancing while others prefer the traditional one-on-one.

Well Attended Dances

Light Up the Night

Where do Franklin students go on Friday nights? Sometimes they crowd into the famous boys' gym for another highly publicized dance. The dances at Franklin are well known for their quality D.J.s and spectacular light shows. The Student Leadership class organizes and pays for the D.J.s and their equipment. They profit from the dances by selling all their tickets.

This year's dance commissioner, Richard Gonzalez, sometimes scheduled recording artists to perform or created dance contests. From 8:00 P.M. to midnight, the latest mixture in dance music was played with no breaks between songs. Sodas and hot dogs were sold as refreshments to the many people that came to have an enjoyable night. Of the six night dances held this year, the vast majority sold out and the doors closed early.

Stars are Born

The setting was impressive. In room 281 of the auditorium building, an enthusiastic crowd gathered to attend the premiere of Lunch Lazzi, an event organized by Mr. Don Hepner's drama class for its second consecutive year.

Lunch Lazzi (Lazzi means bits of business) was presented on January 14, 15 and 16. The repertoire consisted of three skits - "At the Beach," "Brown Shoes," and "Blue Corpses." These were complemented by a stand-up comedian and a lip-sync routine.

Mr. Hepner said it took the class about a month to put the show together. It started from scratch. The drama students wrote the skits, and once these were ready, the class took the roles through an audition process. After auditions, rehearsals began. Mr. Hepner advised the students on choreography and direction.

Student Amy Stillings said of the drama course, "It has been a great learning experience." Regarding Lunch Lazzi, Amy said, "It has given me the chance to perform before an audience which has built my confidence in myself." The fact that she has taken this class has reinforced her idea of pursuing a career in the performing arts.

Lunch Lazzi has given students and teachers alike an opportunity to appreciate the dramatic arts and the creative efforts of the Franklin community.

4. Beach-bound "nerd." Anthony Acosta tries to impress a girl "At the Beach."

La Tour de Franklin

History was recorded again, as the second annual Senior Tricycle Race took place on February 25. The event, La Tour de Franklin, was sponsored by Senior Cabinet. The spectators could not help but support their favorite teams with confident yells. The fully grown Panthers managed to pedal these baby-sized tricycles along the obstacles in the quad. The winners won prizes and contestants won loud applause from their schoolmates. Others look forward to the next Tour de Franklin.

Hidden Talent

Electives Offer Opportunity to Explore New Fields

"Back to basics" has been the battle cry in education for several years, in an attempt to improve student achievement and raise test scores. But what about the fine arts, industrial arts and home arts? In an effort to stress reading, writing and mathematical skills, the result for students and teachers alike has been an increased number of required classes and a decrease in the electives program.

The problem is compounded by the large number of students who fail required classes. Since they must re-take the courses, they lose the opportunity to sample the small, but stable, number of electives offered by different departments including classes in psychology, dance, computers, business and many others.

For those students who successfully complete required courses, electives open doors to new skills, new information and new experiences. Education involves more than the "basics."

1. From the North Pole to the nursery. Santa Claus, Mr. Richard Campbell, and his elf, Laura Barrientos, greet a youngster in the nursery. This event involves the students in Ms. Nancy Bradway's Careers With Children elective.
2. The finishing touches. Josefina Talavera, a student in Mr. Jerry Schwartz's Ceramics class, applies glaze to her pitcher.
3. Stepping out. Modern Dance classes are taught by Ms. Carol Wiegmann. Students Vivian Munoz, Marianne Vega, Carmina Valentin and Bara Bonnet practice their routines.
4. Developing an artist's eye. Photography students of Mr. Ben Makuta use the equipment in his classroom to develop, print and enlarge photos.

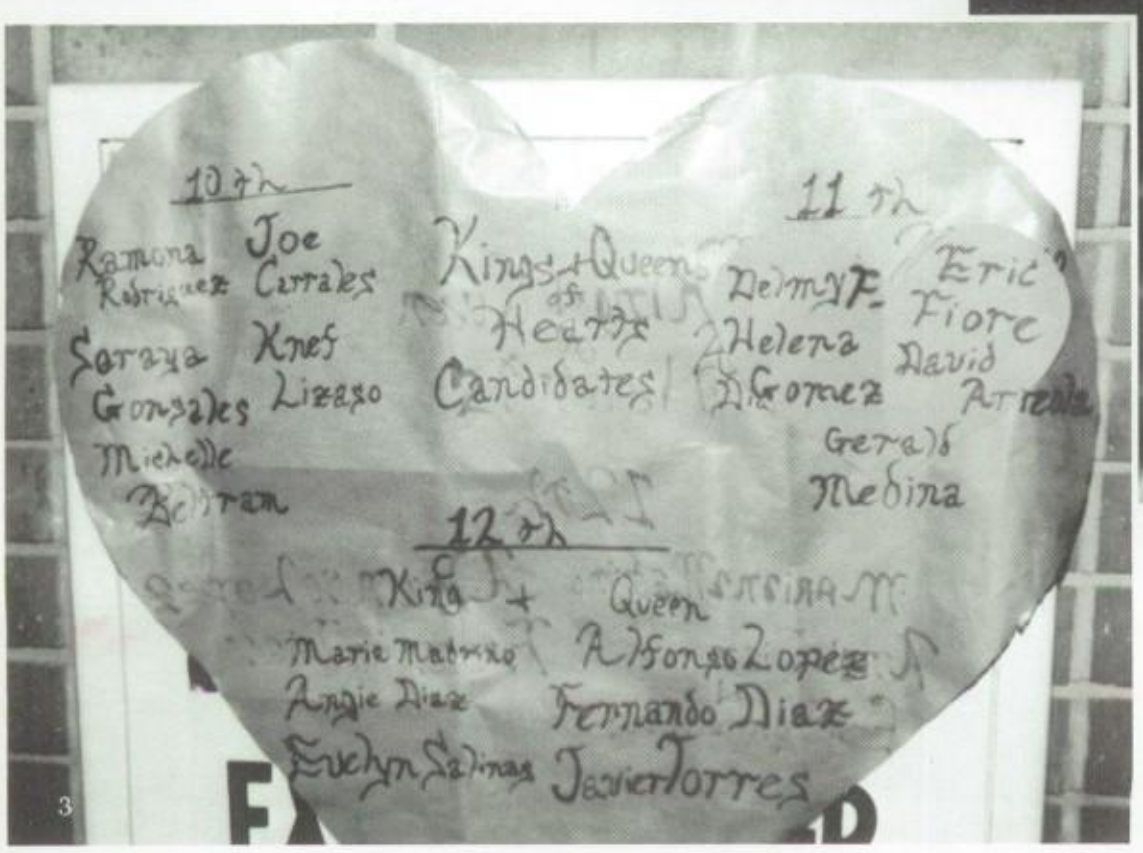
1. Design for living. Anny Poon displays her Humanities class project. She designed her room during a unit on architecture.
2. Mechanical minds. Students in Mr. Kirby Miskimin's Auto Shop learn basic principles of automobile operation and maintenance. Theory is an important part of the class, but so is hands-on experience with real equipment.
3. Understanding a child's perspective. Understanding how children develop is an important part of the class Careers with Children. Franklin students Shereese Allende and Laura Hernandez help pre-schoolers with an art project during the holiday season.
4. From a lump of clay. Ricardo Magallon concentrates on shaping the nose of his bust, a project in Mr. Michael Howard's Ceramics class.

Hearts of the Night

A Dance to Remember

On February 13th, an annual event was held in the boys' gym to select the king and queen of hearts. The dance was hosted by Power 106's Mucho Morales. This coronation included the three grade levels. The boys' gym was packed with people from all over the Highland Park area.



1. Love is in the air.
2. Senior King Alfonso Lopez and Queen Mariana Medrano pose with Junior King Eric Fiore and Queen Delmy Figueroa for the annual Valentine's Dance.
3. Candidates for the King and Queen of Hearts were displayed to all.
4. King Joe Canales and Queen Ramona Rodriquez pause from their dance to smile for the camera.
5. Mucho Morales, the special host D.J., entertains Franklin party animals.
6. Wonders to behold. In Paris, the students observed the Gothic architecture of the Ile de la Cite Chapel, visited Mona Lisa at the Louvre and climbed the Eiffel Tower.
7. Strolling along the Champs-Elysees, offers une bellevue.
8. Voyagers to France, Front Row (L-R): Karen Villanueva, Armando Aguilar. Second Row: Suzi Mesquita, Walter Genie, Helga Castro, Laura Leszt, Adriana Lopez. Third Row: Adrian Pina.

Le Voyage a la France

A Franklin First

Who would have thought of a club taking a transcontinental trip. The French Club did just that this year.

On April 13th, when everyone was on spring break, Ms. Audrey Randall, the French Club sponsor, and nine of her club members - Adrian Pina, Walter Genie, Karen Villanueva, Armando Aguilar, Laura Leszt, Adriana Lopez, Helga Castro, Patty Mesquita, Susie Mezquita - left LAX to spend nine exotic days in France. All accommodations were made possible by the Cultural Heritage Alliance for the cost of $800 per person.

Everyone had a chance to climb the Eiffel Tower, to see the famous Hall of Mirrors, to visit the remarkable stained glass windows of the Chartres Cathedral, the Gothic Cathedral of Notre Dame, the Jeu de Paume Museums, and many more exiciting places. Also, the students had a chance to speak French with native speakers.

Upon returning from France, Ms. Randall hoped more students would be taking French in the years to come.

Sophomores

The class of '89 is 1218 stars strong. To become a junior, each sophomore should earn at least 105 high school credits (including 50 credits from the ninth grade) by the end of this school year. The following subjects are required for sophomores in order to graduate: 40 credits of English, 30 credits of social science, 20 credits of mathematics, 20 credits of laboratory science, 5 credits of health, 10 credits of foreign language or fine arts, 20 credits of physical education, 10 credits of technical arts, 2.5 credits of education/career planning, 2.5 credits of driver education, and 60 credits in the special interest clusters. Also, students must pass three competency tests in reading, writing, and mathematical computation.

A New Beginning

Sophomores are young stars shooting their way toward graduation. They come to high school not knowing what to expect and discover within themselves hope for the future. For many, orientation is their first exposure to high school life. Sophomores come before school officially opens. They hear about classes, activities and organizations from the administration, student leaders and other personnel. Tours of the campus are given by upper classmen and questions are answered. The orientation is intended to ease the transition from junior high to high school.

According to sophomore Gene Gonzales, "It's really different in high school." She thought the first few weeks of school were tough, but now it's turning out to be a nice year. Many sophomores are finding their way through Franklin by joining clubs, sports teams or just interacting with other students.

This year, there were more sophomores than ever. Most came from the vicinity around Franklin and some were bussed from other areas. Maria Valdivia said, "My sister influenced me to come to Franklin; it's like a tradition."

The class of '89 will be the shooting stars of our future. Best of luck!

Guiding Stars

One of the classes sophomores are required to take is guidance. The purpose of this class is to make students aware of what careers or college majors are suitable for their hobbies and skills. Guest speakers like Mr. Jack Wright, the college advisor and Mr. Gordon Barnwell, the work and career advisor, talk to the students about the future and what must be done now to prepare for a bright future. Many career possibilities are presented to the sophomores to choose from. Students begin to recognize their skills and aptitudes. This ten-week class serves as a guiding light for the students that are shooting for the stars.

Learning to Drive Defensively

How do students feel when they get behind the wheel of an automobile? A privileged group of students had the chance to drive during their sophomore year. The driver training class provides the students who have reached their 15th birthday with instructions on traffic laws, signs, and the basic techniques for maneuvering a car properly. The students are required to take driver education before or concurrently with driver training. The class takes place during the P.E. period or before and after school. Driver training lasts for six weeks and consists of a simulator experience and driving sessions. Students take turns using the equipment. Half of the class uses the simulator, while the other half drives every other day. Each student, during behind-the-wheel lessons, takes turn driving for an average of 15 minutes every time. The short driving time is due to the large number of students taking the class. According to sophomore Thai Sam, "The driving time is too short. The class would be better with less people." The class is demanding for some students. Dennis Derecho said of the class, "It was hard." Whether the class is large or difficult, it will continue to train students to be safe drivers.

The Lunch Crunch

Lunch is an important activity at Franklin for every student and faculty member. Many interesting scenes can be observed before, during, and after lunch. It is not so rare to see a mass of impatient students packed between the door, a minute before the lunch bell rings. As soon as the bell rings, over two thousand students rush down the crowded stairwells to fight for a position in front of the line.

An average student on the third floor has to stand in the lunch line for approximately 15 minutes. This may not appear to be a long time, but it is when compared to the 35-minute lunch period.

Although the lunch service may seem slow, the entire lunch service is well organized. Mr. George Carone, our new assistant principal said, "The students in the lunch line are easy to work with. They follow the guidelines with polite manners."

Thus, the lunch line helps to serve food to Franklin students and faculty. Waiting in line adds to the character of Franklin students by teaching them patience. Joining the lunch bunch nourishes the body and allows students to socialize with friends.

A Clean Sweep

At Franklin High, many students get to their classes on time. Others, though, do not go to class before the tardy bell rings. To eliminate this problem, tardy sweeps have been instituted on a more regular basis this year. The administrators and security officers send those students who are not in class to the cafeteria to receive readmittance slips that are marked "truant". For their consequences, a warning letter sent to their parent(s) and detention assigned by the Deans. Tardy sweeps have had some success, and although it's not enjoyable, it has become a part of Franklin life.

Ngoc Lam, Man Hua and Nancy Chan are just returning from a friendly game of tennis. Most students fulfill their P.E. requirement as sophomores.

A new sophomore looks excited at the prospect of taking a tour of the campus on orientation day.

For Your Information

The Upward Bound Program is an exciting six-week residential experience. Each year, during summer students from Franklin and four other high schools attend the Upward Bound Program at Occidental College, a small, highly selective liberal arts college.

The program provides a college-like environment. Students, who live in the dorms on campus for the duration of the program, are assigned a roommate and a residential advisor (R.A.). The R.A.s are given groups containing about six students which he or she is to counsel.

These bright high school students are allowed access to all Oxy facilities such as the library, swimming pool and track. They are given three high school credit classes which contain very small numbers of students, thus allowing more participation and a higher degree of teacher-student interaction.

Upward Bound is designed for those stars who are shooting for a college education. Students are encouraged to apply in their sophomore or junior year in order for them to have a chance of returning the following summer.

If you won the grand prize in the California lottery, what would you do with the money? This very same question was asked of Franklin's sophomores recently and they had very interesting responses. Hoa Duong said, "I would use some of the money to pay for my education and some to help poor people." Another sophomore, Kathy Quach responded, "If I won the grand prize in the lottery, I would buy a new house, a new car, and lots of clothes." Other sophomores were very creative. Teresa Diaz commented, "I would take my money and move to the Virgin Islands." And Paul Valenzuela said, "I would buy myself a yacht." These are just a few of the many things Franklin sophomores would buy with their lottery money. What would you buy?

Mentors Help Mentees Go Far

"I felt I had something to offer in light of my xperience in teacher training as an adjunct rofessor or education at the university," said Dr. Clementina Gregoire about her decision o become a mentor teacher. She is one of five ientors at Franklin. The others are Ms. Terry akevitz, Ms. Hope Jeter, Mr. Don Palus and Ms. Joyce Pratch, who help mentees Mr. Robert Hurst, Ms. Beverly Lee, Ms. Marion uster, Ms. Barbara Ackerman, Mr. Michael Howard, Mr. Richard Guzman, Ms. Maria Borja, Ms. Sylvia Narvaez, Ms. Audrey Randall, Mr. Robert Jauregui, Ms. Michelle Reynolds and Mr. Robin Cardona.

The mentor teacher program is designed to elp new teachers adjust and learn ways to imrove instruction. As Dr. Gregoire, who eaches secretarial sciences, stressed, "The ole of the mentor teacher is to assist and to uide," assuming a leadership role in inruction.

Social science teacher, Ms. Sakevitz, is in er first year as a mentor, and finds the job lfills a desire to help others and "upgrade he status of teachers" in the system.

Officially, mentors and mentees meet twice week during lunch for discussions, but most of the teachers involved admit these meetings are more akin to social gatherings, or as Mr. Hurst, who began teaching physical and life science just this year said, "Everyone seems to have somewhere else to go."

Mentors are, however, given an extra period for counseling and can observe a mentee's class at any time. How mentors go about their duties is often a matter of personal style. According to Ms. Sakevitz, some mentors are possessive about their assigned mentees and discourage outside counseling, while others offer advice to whomever will accept it.

Mentees, as well, vary in response to mentor aid. Some beginning teachers would rather learn on their own. Mr. Hurst commented, "I'm one of those people who tries to figure things out by myself." Some, like Ms. Reynolds, who taught English for five years before coming to Franklin, found themselves on a list of "new" teachers and so do not make much use of the mentor teacher program.

According to Dr. Gregoire, mentors are challenged to build a "trustful relationship" with mentees, to establish their function as morale supporters rather than evaluators. The responsibilities of being a mentor must also be balanced with teaching responsibilities.

The program itself is faced with the challenge to learn, as it is also new on campus. According to Mr. Hurst, the mentor program, like some of the teachers it aids, needs to gain an organized structure. As Mr. Hurst put it, "It needs a little streamlining here and there.

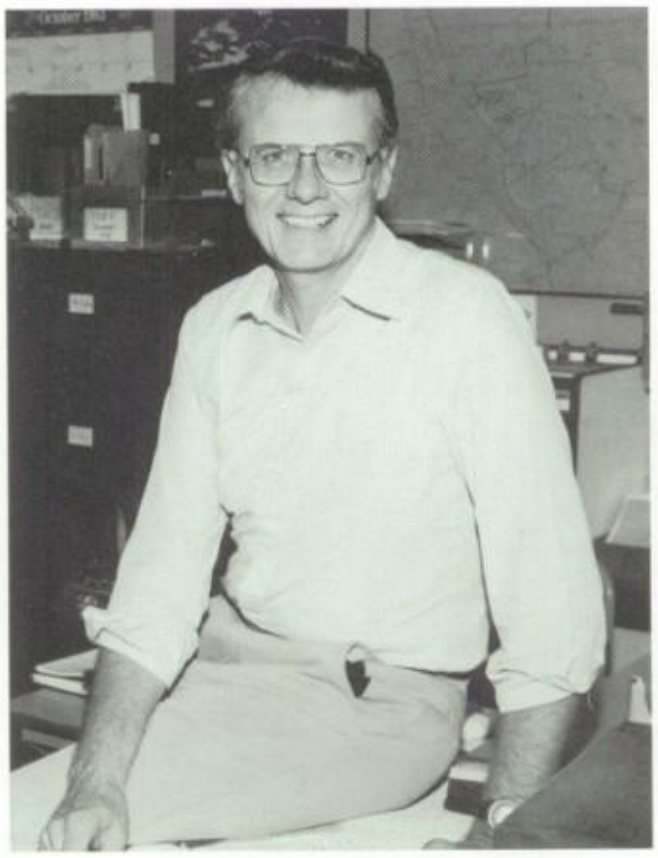
Star Search
Finding the Right Career Paths

Mr. Gordon Barnwell is currently the work and career coordinator. He is a former classroom teacher who has helped many students experience the responsibilities and expectations of holding a job. As a former business education teacher, he knows how to deal with students who are not sure of their future careers. He advises them to seek jobs related to their interests or majors. For example, if a student is a business major, Mr. Barnwell may suggest a clerical job. But a student does not have to have any special interests or majors in order to participate in the work experience program. Many students get involved with the program simply because they want to work or earn high school credit. These students find jobs as salespersons, boxpersons, or workers in fast food restaurants.

The work experience program is designed to help students find part-time jobs outside of school. This elective is usually offered fifth and sixth periods. Students are required to work a minimum of 15 hours a week for at least 15 weeks in order to obtain the five credits given to them by the program. They also have to attend one work experience class a week.

There are approximately 380 students presently involved in the program. A current work experience student, Barbara Del Real said, "Mr. Barnwell has helped me a great deal during the time I have been involved in the program. He really cares about his students."



Mr. Barnwell's job does not end in June like most faculty members' jobs. He keeps his office open all year for students who want to work during the summer. While other teachers are on vacation, Mr. Barnwell is busy in his office helping students find summer jobs. In Mr. Barnwell's view, "It is okay for a student to work, as long as he doesn't neglect his studies; a good education is much more important."

For Those Who Seek Knowledge, Look to a Star

Most people do not realize how fortunate Franklin is to have a librarian as dedicated and caring as Ms. Linda Tigner. She is more than just another librarian.

Ms. Tigner graduated from Pomona College and became an English and social science teacher. Later, she realized that what she really wanted to be was a librarian. With this in mind, she went back to library school and earned her master's degree at the University of Southern California. She has been in the field of library science for 14 years.

The library is open from 7:30 in the morning to 4:00 P.M. But unlike some other high school librarians, Ms. Tigner leaves the library open during lunch and nutrition to accomodate students who may need her assistance but find it difficult to come any other time. Helga Asatoori, a senior at Franklin said, "Throughout the years I have been here, I have found the library very useful. I have had to write numerous research papers, and I have found most of the information in the Franklin library, with the help of Ms. Tigner."

Being a librarian is not an easy task. Ms. Tigner is usually swamped with work. If she is not organizing the library, she's preparing special lessons for classes, or ordering new materials, or doing what she does best, helping the students and staff tap into information available in the library. Under Ms. Tigner's management, Franklin has one of the best high school libraries in the school district. Thanks, Ms. Tigner! You truly are a star.

For Hands-On Experience,
They're Out of This World

Every day at lunch they gather to talk, eat and "solve the world's problems." They are Franklin's industrial arts teachers, a group of six men dedicated to passing on their knowledge of industrial arts to any student willing to take a shop class.

These days, however, fewer students do so, bound as they are by the standards of Senate Bill 813, passed last year, which, in requiring more academic classes to graduate, inhibits the taking of advanced industrial arts electives.

Mr. Bruce Carnaham, a former Franklin teacher who now substitutes, spoke of a different time, about 18 years ago, when "there was a philosophy that every student should graduate with a saleable skill." The popularity of that philosophy has appeared to suffer with time though, and many do not benefit from the 97 years of combined teaching experience the industrial arts department has.

Who are these teachers? Mr. Robert Lester teaches machine shop (with 23 years behind him, he's the senior of the group); Mr. Hideo Kikumoto, architecture and drafting; Mr. Gilbert Marquez, graphic arts and printing; Mr. Kirby Miskimin, auto; Mr. Armenak Vardavarian, electronics; and Mr. James Ward, wood shop.

Aside from needing five years of college training, industrial arts teachers are required to have an additional five years of experience in their respective industry and vocational accreditation. According to Mr. Miskimin, shop teachers "can make more money in industry," but make sacrafices because of their dedication to teaching.

It is the possibility of an industrial job the department offers to those who go beyond the beginning levels. As Mr. Ward said, for students with skills, "starting pay is better than minimum wage." With these considerations in mind, the shop teachers wait for more students with a love for the industrial arts. Where can these teachers be found? They meet for lunch in the industrial arts department office, as always.

Class JUNIORS of 1988

Juniors

The class of '88 will need a minimum of 220 credits to graduate. By the end of their eleventh grade, every junior must have at least 160 credits, including 50 credits required from the nineth grade. They must also have successfully passed three competency exams in reading, writing and mathematical computation. The subject requirements are the same as those for sophomores. However, the University of California requirements are a bit different for those students wishing to attend a U.C. college. Each student is required to take one year of U.S. history or one semester of U.S. history and one semester of U.S. government; four years of college preparatory English; three years of higher mathematics;one year of a laboratory science; two years of foreign language; and eight semesters of advanced coursework in math, English, science, foreign language, social science or fine arts.

From Denmark to FHS

This year, we are proud to welcome Peter Kongsgaard Hansen to Franklin as an exchange student from Denmark.

"I had to search for a sponsor organization, fill out an application and get letters of recommendation from teachers, parents and friends before I got accepted," Peter explained. While attending Franklin as a junior, Peter is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Leverich. "Once I get home from soccer practice or games, I do my homework and watch television," smiled Peter. "But I miss my parents and friends in Denmark."

The schools in Denmark are different from Franklin in many ways. Peter said that teachers have to move from classroom to classroom in Denmark. Students receive grades from 1 to 13, 13 being the highest possible. Students finish high school in the ninth or tenth grade at the age of 15 or 16. Students in Denmark may have the same teacher for five or six hours a day. Lastly, the schools in Denmark are much smaller than Franklin.

When June comes, Peter will return home. He admitted that, "I will miss the family I am living with, my friends and the warm California weather." Franklin will miss him too.

Big wheels need washing too. This young motorist pulls into the Key Club car wash for some assistance.

First the PSAT; Then the SAT

After an exhausting week in school, most juniors and sophomores gave up their precious Saturday, October 18th to take a two-hour exam, the PSAT/NMSQT (Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test).

"I took the PSAT to prepare for the SAT," said junior Nelson Quan. Eva Arnaud took the PSAT because of the scholarship available to high scoring students. Some students came prepared like Luis Romero, who said, "I studied a lot because I take this test very seriously, and I have a class over at Occidental College that also helps me."

What do students learn from taking the test? "I learned how to think quickly and critically under pressure," said Caroline Gonzalez, while Joy Cumba learned how not to panic and pace herself. Cindy Wilson encourages future PSAT takers not to be nervous; nervousness only lowers scores. "Always build your vocabulary even if it is at a rate of one word per week," advised Pam Adachi. "Learn from the results and study the subject in which you are weak," added Ivan Yen. All in all, the recommendation from most students was, "Go for it! There is nothing to lose and everything to be gained."

Typical Junior Boy Not So Typical

The typical junior boy does many things that a sophomore or senior boy would not. The junior boy knows when good food is being served in the cafeteria for lunch. He knows how to avoid the large crowd of students stuck in the stairwells when walking to class. He does not have to worry about finding someone to take to the prom for another year, but he makes plans anyway. The junior boy, like Ki Jin Kim, is very different from other students.

The One and Only

The junior girl is unique. She does not act childish anymore, but she is not quite ready to depend on herself. She has expectations for her senior year, but wishes to be a sophomore again because of the good memories and easier classes. Because she has no car of her own and most of her friends do not drive, she spends her evenings at home studying. At school, the junior girl can be spotted carrying a heavy book bag and even heavier purse filled with hair spray, make-up, food, and sometimes a change of clothes. Her favorite topic of conversation is boys. The junior girl is definitely a twinkling star.

Making a Difference

Clean campus is an activity that a specific team, club or organization participates in each week. Its purpose is to help keep the campus clean and encourages the Franklin students to throw their waste into the trash cans. Clean campus occurs daily for seven minutes after nutrition and lunch. This would not be necessary if every student was responsible for throwing away his or her litter. Keep Franklin shining, Panthers!

Stored Away Stars

David Tay, Nelson Quan and Thavrin Thap spend their nutrition and lunch times serving the students of Franklin High. They work for a total of fifty minutes and are paid $1.25 a day. Ivan Yen and Han Yoo, however, work in the student store for Athenian hours. "Working in the student store, sometimes, is not very pleasant because some students give us a lot of problems. However, we try to do our best to serve the students and our supervisors. Problems aside, I like to work in the student store," commented Thavrin Thap. Han Yoo agrees saying, "It's a good way to obtain Athenian hours."

"To work in the student store, students must have integrity, responsibility, reliability and be trustworthy," said Ms. Teri Endo, one of the supervisors. She added, "These helpers are wonderful." The reason Ms. Endo hires students to work in the student store is that the school does not have enough money to pay for full-time adult workers.

Also, these students want to work to keep the student spirit at Franklin alive and growing. These students definitely provide service with a smile!

Enrichment is Not For Members Only

This year, Franklin's Academic Clubs have multiplied rapidly in number and membership. These clubs, which emphasize academic achievement and competition, include the Calculus Club, the Math/Science Club, the Franklin Press staff, Phantasmagoria, UCLA Partnership Program, and the Academic Decathlon team.

The Franklin Press staff published articles to give the student body an awareness of the community as well as an awareness of many public controversies.

Phantasmagoria is an annual creative writing magazine to explore the hidden talents of the student body at Franklin. In order to get student participation, the club was willling to offer monetary prizes.

Many students interested in calculus, joined a new club, the Calculus Club. "You don't have to be a genius, just know how to add, subtract, multiply and divide," said Leonard Ho, the president of the club.

The Math/Science club offered students interested in those fields an opportunity to participate in competitions and math field days.

The UCLA Partnership is designed to help students understand what college life is like. Students attended workshops on the UCLA campus.

This year's Academic Decathlon team researched authors, painters and architects of the Renaissance. The six team members and the six alternates memorized speeches about the U.S. Constitution, an impromtu speech, and an interview. These students competed against fifty-two other high schools. After ten hours of agonizing testing, Franklin earned a third place medal in the interview by Cameron Stone.

There is no question that many Franklin students shared their talents and developed an ability to think more clearly and critically as members of Academic Clubs. Active members shared the belief that learning is fun, in class and in clubs.

Cultural Diversity Abounds

It is essential, as residents of the city of Los Angeles, to be aware of the many cultures surrounding us. The city is considered by many to be a "melting pot" like Chicago and New York because of its cultural diversity. Proof of this is the estimated figures that show that more than 80 languages are spoken in the Los Angeles area alone. Franklin High School is undoubtedly a mirror image of the city. Thus, Franklin students, can discover and experience other cultures without leaving the campus. It is here that we find another "melting pot." It is through the interaction and communication among the different ethnic groups that we can have a taste of the food, customs and traits that make a particular culture unique. This interaction is important for personal growth and has been facilitated by the various ethnic clubs at Franklin: Asian-American Club, Spanish Club, MECHA, International Club, French Club, Korean Club, and the Latino Club.

The Asian-American Club, has offered the entire student body the chance to experience the flavor of the Orient by exposing Asian traditions and cuisine. The Spanish Club, new this year, has attracted members of all cultures since its objective is to share the culture of the Spanish-speaking world.

MECHA, on the other hand, is concerned with eliminating the cultural boundaries existing in our society between Mexican Americans and others. For this, MECHA (Movimiento Estudiantil para Chicanos de Aztlan) has brought to our campus important figures from our local political arena.

Furthermore, Franklin is fortunate to have an International Club with its more eclectic focus.

For those interested in the European civilizations, there is the French Club which meets every Tuesday during lunch. In its attempt to experience the utterly French lifestyle, the club organized a trip to France.

Finally, there are two cultural clubs at Franklin that are still in their formative stages: the Korean and the Latino Clubs. Both clubs try to explore in depth the customs and peculiarities of the Korean and Latin Cultures, respectively.

In general, all of these clubs have the desire to spread an understanding of the several ethnicities present at Franklin, enriching the lives of our student body, and contributing to a better understanding of the unknown.

Getting Serious About Service

Students Lend Help to School and Community

Isn't it interesting to know that some of the students at Franklin do not just come to school to study, but also to help people in their community? Involvement. Commitment. Caring. These adjectives describe students who take time to participate in service clubs. These service clubs include the Keywanettes, Key Club, Forum, Paint Crew, Stage Crew, Audio Visual Support, Athenians, Youth Community Service and Leadership.

These organizations are similar in that many offer students school credit. Secondly, students feel good about themselves after performing community service. Lastly, students learn leadership skills while doing something to improve their community and school.

Aside from these similarities, each club is unique. Keywanettes, for example, distributed stuffed toys and cards to the children in the Shriner's Hospital during the holidays. The club raised money for the Make-A-Wish Foundation as well.

The Key Club visited convalescent homes, wrapped gifts for the Public Guardians Office, peddled for the McDonald's bike-a-thon, and collected clothing for the homeless.

Members of Youth Community Service organized a blood drive on campus and helped beautify the campus.

The Stage Crew set up the equipment necessary for guest speakers and assemblies. When school facilities were used by community groups, members of the Stage Crew worked late hours to assist in these projects.

Improving the appearance of the physical plant was the responsibility of the Paint Crew. Each morning the crew donned work uniforms and combed the school removing unsightly writing.

Athenians were students who met certain academic requirements and were willing to volunteer at least 20 hours a semester to the school or community. Athenians were found helping the library, student store and counseling staffs. The club also helped with a blood drive. Many Athenians helped teachers correct papers, design bulletin boards and tutor peers.

During period one, Audio Visual Support students were seen frantically delivering a day's supply of projectors, VCRs and filmstrip machines to the many teachers augmenting their lessons with visual aids.

Student body officers met daily during period two for a Leadership class to plan school activities. Record room contests, dances, the holiday food drive and food fairs were some of the projects planned by this group. Officers were elected each semester.

The Student Forum also selected members each semester. It functioned as a sounding board where school policies were discussed and recommendations were made. Representatives met monthly and relayed information from the meetings to record rooms.

Each club usually worked independent of the others. Each strove to develop responsible behavior in its membership and a concern for the welfare of others. All of these clubs and organizations made vital contributions to the Franklin community and surrounding area.

Future Options

Explored through Clubs

A question that creates anxiety for students is this one; what will you do after high school? Some students plan to attend college; others hope to find a job. Each student wonders what the future will hold. There are several clubs and organizations on campus which help students explore career interests including the JROTC, Upward Bound, Career Awareness Program, Future Homemakers of America, Teachers of Tomorrow and Close-Up.

The Upward Bound Program is designed to attract capable students to consider attending college. It especially targets minorities or students who will be the first individuals in their families to attend college. The program motivates, develops skills and gives students a chance to aim for something more than they thought possible.

For those students who might be interested in a career in business or banking, the Home Savings Career Awareness Program offers an opportunity to learn about both fields. Students attend weekly seminars sponsored by Home Savings and have an opportunity to compete for scholarships.

The JROTC teaches cadets proper military discipline and procedures. Members are issued cadet uniforms, learn survival skills like first aid and map reading, and the group also participates in local parades. The JROTC cadets have many responsibilities including flag detail, disaster service and supervision at football games and dances. Besides the hard work and service to the school, members of the JROTC participate in an annual trip to Fort Ord and plan a Military Ball.

The best and brightest are needed to educate future generations. Teachers of Tomorrow opens the door to careers in the teaching profession. Members of the club attend conferences, tutor after school and conduct fund raisers.

Our nation's capital draws several students who want to view government "Close-Up". The Close-Up Foundation sponsors a week long trip of seminars, briefings, and social activities which allow students to learn more about the democratic processes.

The Future Homemakers of America-Home Economics Related Occupations, (FHA-HERO) encourages students to explore other types of occupations. Club members plan outings to amusement parks and participate in the Food Fair each year.

By opening doors for exploration each of these clubs hopes to better prepare FHS students for the future — whatever it might hold.

Spirit of the Panther

Spirit Groups Work Together

Not only was this year victorious for our City League Champs but also for five very special groups. Franklin's Spirit groups were there win or lose, ready to cheer on and support our teams in every game.

Besides participating in outside competition, these talented young stars provided us with entertainment, enthusiasm and spirit at every game. They also showed us the magic of Franklin High at every pep rally.

We saw our cheerleaders lead the supporting cheers while we watched the games intently from the stands. When we scored, we would all sing along with the band and the cheering gestures of our strutters, the pep club and the cheerleaders to "On For Franklin."

It didn't take us long to realize what direction our teams were headed after the first few games. It was obvious that all of us, as a team, were all winners and that nothing else could stand in our way. We had magic, magic that only groups like the band, cheerleaders, drill team, tall flags and the pep club, could bring.

All the Spirit groups wished to thank their advisors for all their time, support and enthusiasm.

Franklin's Shining Stars

Franklin High and the yearbook staff would like to salute these outstanding individuals who bring us pride. They are gifted students who have achieved a grade point average of 4.0 or higher through three years of hard work. According to Allan Wong, the main factor that helped him maintain his grades was high self-expectation. "I tend to expect myself to achieve more than I am really able to," Allan says. "I always strive for the best because I know there are many people that are better than me."

These students have received numerous awards in the fields of math, science and social science for their excellence. They participated and obtained recognition in academic activities like the L.A. History Day Contest and other essay contests.

In addition, they are active members of school organizations and clubs. As an example, Zdung Tran played on the Bee and Cee basketball teams for three years, and was, at the same time, president of the Calculus Club.

We would like to wish them all the best and hope that these stars keep shining.

Happy faces abound in the senior class. Students like Jason Martinez are eager to enter another phase of life, life after Franklin.

Costs on the Rise

This school year, seniors or their parents had to be "rolling in the bucks" in order to take part in senior activities. Senior portraits, $100 average; college application fees, $100-300; the prom, $300-500; class ring, $150 average; grad night, $30; senior dues, $8 average, and many more activities and items exclusively for seniors, easily cleaned out a savings account or whole month's paycheck.

How did seniors deal with this financial situation? Many guiltily asked their parents to pay for the expenses. Some students, like A.S.B. President Elaine Mejia, spent their own money and only asked their parents when their savings ran out. Jose Baldonado, Vice President of the Key Club, however, remarked, "I don't feel guilty when my parents pay for school activities. But I do feel guilty when I ask them for money to buy a record."

Mejia blames her big spending this year on the fact that she "found (herself) getting more involved in activities." But it was worth it to her for she "had a lot of fun."

Angelo Guerrero, Key Club President, said that buying everything may have been costly, but he did not regret it because it helps him "retain all those fond memories."

From the Inside

Success Came From Team Work

The words "senior year" have been synonymous in the high school world with a fun and active year. These attributes have been made possible for this year's Senior class by the 1986-1987 Senior Cabinet. The Senior Cabinet, composed of a group of seniors and advisor Mr. John Spencer, organized all the activities for this year's Senior class.

During the fall semester, seniors were able to participate in the Balloon Popping Contest, the Ice Cream Contest and the Cartoon Week, which were organized by Marita Vergel de Dios, a "Rep-at-large". Marita became involved with Senior Cabinet because she "wanted to make things happen". Bayani De Guzman and Ana Gonzales also Reps-at-large, spoke of their reasons for becoming involved. Bayani said "I wanted to be in Senior Cabinet because I wanted to experience leadership." Ana Gonzales said she "wanted to get to know more people in the student body and faculty." Although each had their own reason for participation in Senior Cabinet, both Bayani and Ana gave a word of advice to next year's Senior Cabinet when they said that, "to make things happen in Senior Cabinet, people must get along with one another in order to work hard as a team."

What's in the Stars?

A common occurrence for a senior is to find himself trapped in a corner, with myriads of responsibilities - a ten-page paper due in three days which he has barely started, and to top it off, he has a half dozen college applications to fill out. His future does not seem too bright. These school activities and homework keep the senior from worrying about his future.

However, when the time comes to reflect upon one's future plans and upon the road he wants to take, the senior faces confusion, insecurity and great anxiety.

Once the senior decides what he wants to do with his life, he needs to find the way to pursue his goals. The lack of money becomes an obstacle which represents another great concern for the senior. Hence, the senior applies for scholarships, grants and jobs in order to get enough capital to pursue his intended goals.

In conclusion, students who see their senior year as an easy time will be sadly disappointed. Yes, the senior year is a year of fun and excitement. But, it is also a year of responsibility concerning one's future and of growing up.

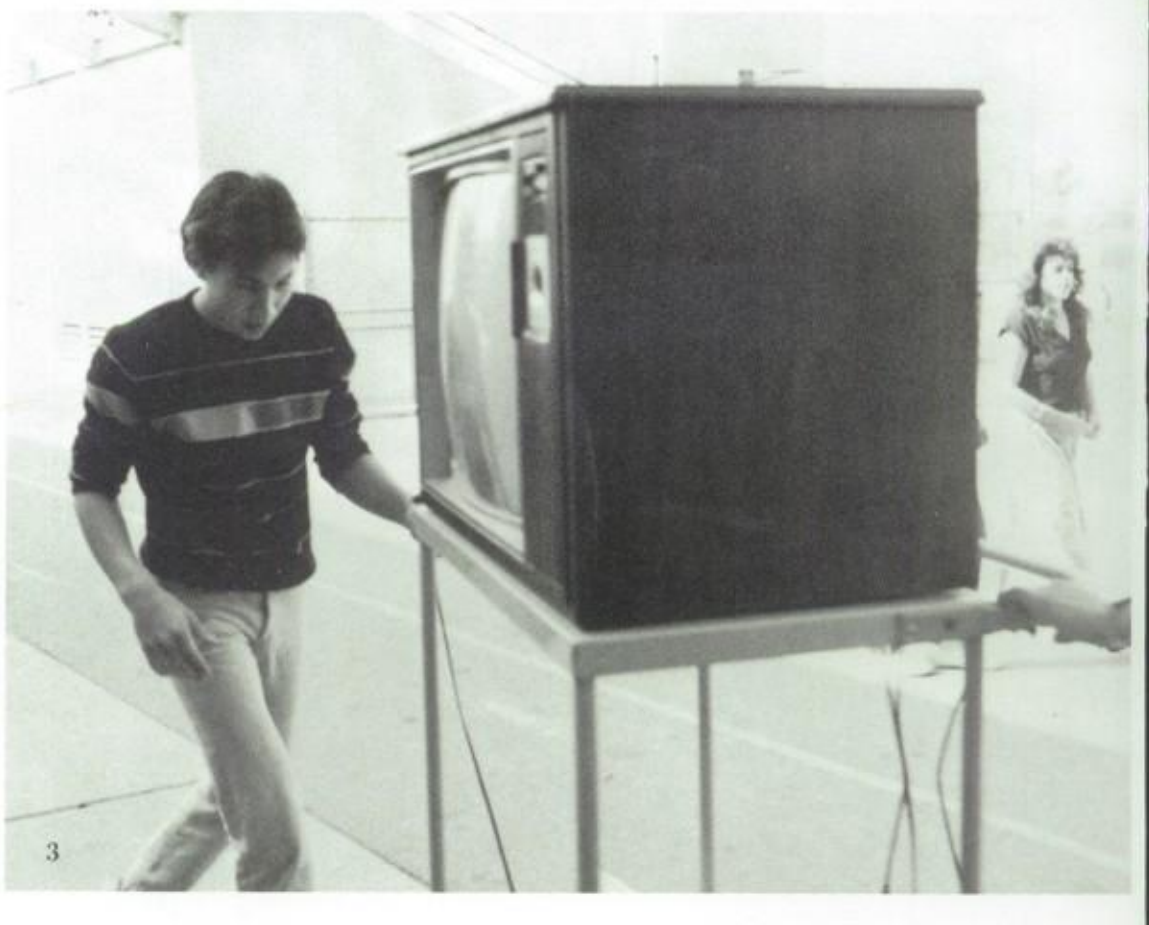
1. Practice makes perfect. Margaret Alarcon, Elaine Mejia and Helga Castro refine the art of "scamming" at a Franklin dance.
2. Combat ready. Julius Dulay practices for the halftime performance to be given at Wilson the night of Halloween.
3. Winning smiles. Seniors and friends gather for Pizza Night.
4. Meet the challengers. Bayani de Guzman, Robert Coberly, Michael Rivera, Enrique Olivares and Sal Hernandez meet on the quad stage for a Tommy Burger Eating Contest. May the biggest mouth win!
5. What's in the bag? Students in Mr. Ed Markarian's humanities class assemble their room design projects.

1. Food, glorious food. William Lim samples one of the delicious treats provided by the clubs during Club Fair '86. The Club Fair is an opportunity for the students to see the variety of clubs available. This activity is a prelude to the even larger International Food Fair held in the spring semester and organized by Student Leadership.

2. Keep up the good work. Panther painters John Casey, Edward Sandoval, Epie Diaz and Junior Romero improve the appearance of the school every morning during Period 1. They remove unsightly writing from the walls and receive service credit for their efforts.

3. Retrieving equipment. Regino Beltran, a member of the audio-visual support class, returns a T.V. and V.C.R. to Mr. Don Hepner's room before the end of school.



1. We've got spirit. Cheerleaders Rita Valencia, Gloria Del Toro, Michelle Perez, Carla Najar and Mariana Medrano ride atop the fire truck at Homecoming.

2. Rest and recuperation. At the end of the McDonald's bike-a-thon, Key Club members, Richard Wun, Gary Lam and Eileen Fukuhara take time to rest.

3. Commending work well done. Coach Armando Gonzalez congratulates Anthony Navarro during football practice. The team practices during the summer prior to the opening of school to build stamina, cooperation and skills.

Spring Training

Team Aims for a City Title

Another great season for the Varsity Baseball team was expected. After taking the city title last year, the team felt they were strong enough to do the same this year. Captain Ricky Lopez answered "of course" when asked if he thought the team would take the city championship title.

Coach Rick Campbell had three goals this season. The first goal was to take the league title. If the team could keep a strong defense, he said he would like "the pitcher to have at least seven strike outs and no more than three walks per game." The second goal was to play well in the playoffs, meaning the team would have to work on their batting. "We're a good team; we just have to lighten up on our bats," admitted Kirby Carranza. Coach Campbell said "I feel 13-2 would be a good record to go for." Coach Campbell's third goal was to get to Dodger Stadium, an experience he looked forward to.

The Varsity team consisted of many experienced players including Captain Ramon Martinez whom Coach Campbell said "was the best in the league, and possibly the city." Captain Ricky Lopez played on the Varsity team for three consecutive years, and pitcher Samuel Genie was a reliable pitcher who strengthened the team's game. Coach Campbell thought their toughest opponent would be Marshall High School. His advice for the team was to "Go out there and do their best." Oscar Rodriguez adds that they prepared for a game by "looking more at the other team and evaluating their game so that we could plan our own moves." Overall the team's tight defense, precision execution, and knack for winning the close ones allowed them to have another prosperous year.

Diamond Visions

Team Works on Batting

The Junior Varsity Baseball team was ready to take on their opponents. They were indeed a promising team. "Our toughest opponent is Wilson High," according to Coach Robin Cardona. "Their team is dominant because of the number of seniors in their line up." Coach Cardona is looking forward to a successful year. When asked how well he expected his team to do, Coach Cardona said, "With a little luck, we'll beat Wilson."

Coach Cardona has been with the JV team for several years. He has coached, managed, flashed signs, and guided the Franklin youths. Coach Cardona is proud of his team. He said, "The best players are Jose Cervantes, a returning player, who plays left field, and Ernie Barraza, an all around ball player." The team has some promising new players as well, Chad Infranca and Sergio Yescas.

The team practices at San Pascual Park when they do not have games. The team's strength lies in the pitching along with its defense. The coach intends to work on the weak and inconsistent hitting. Team cooperation and effort will help achieve the goals which, according to Coach Cardona, included "winning league and developing the kids so they will be able to compete on the varsity team later."

1. Practice makes perfect. Varsity Captain Ricky Lopez skillfully covers third base.
2. Hit and run. Sebastian Quesada prepares to slam a home run for his team.
3. Watch and learn. Chad Infranca and Sergio Yescas patiently wait for their turn at the bat.
4. The super stretch. Team members help each other stretch out their muscles before a game at San Pascual Park.
5. Fire and ice. Samuel Genie pitches a ball of fire which leaves the batter cold as ice.
6. Twist and turn. Juan Tristan hits another home run during Varsity practice at San Pascual.

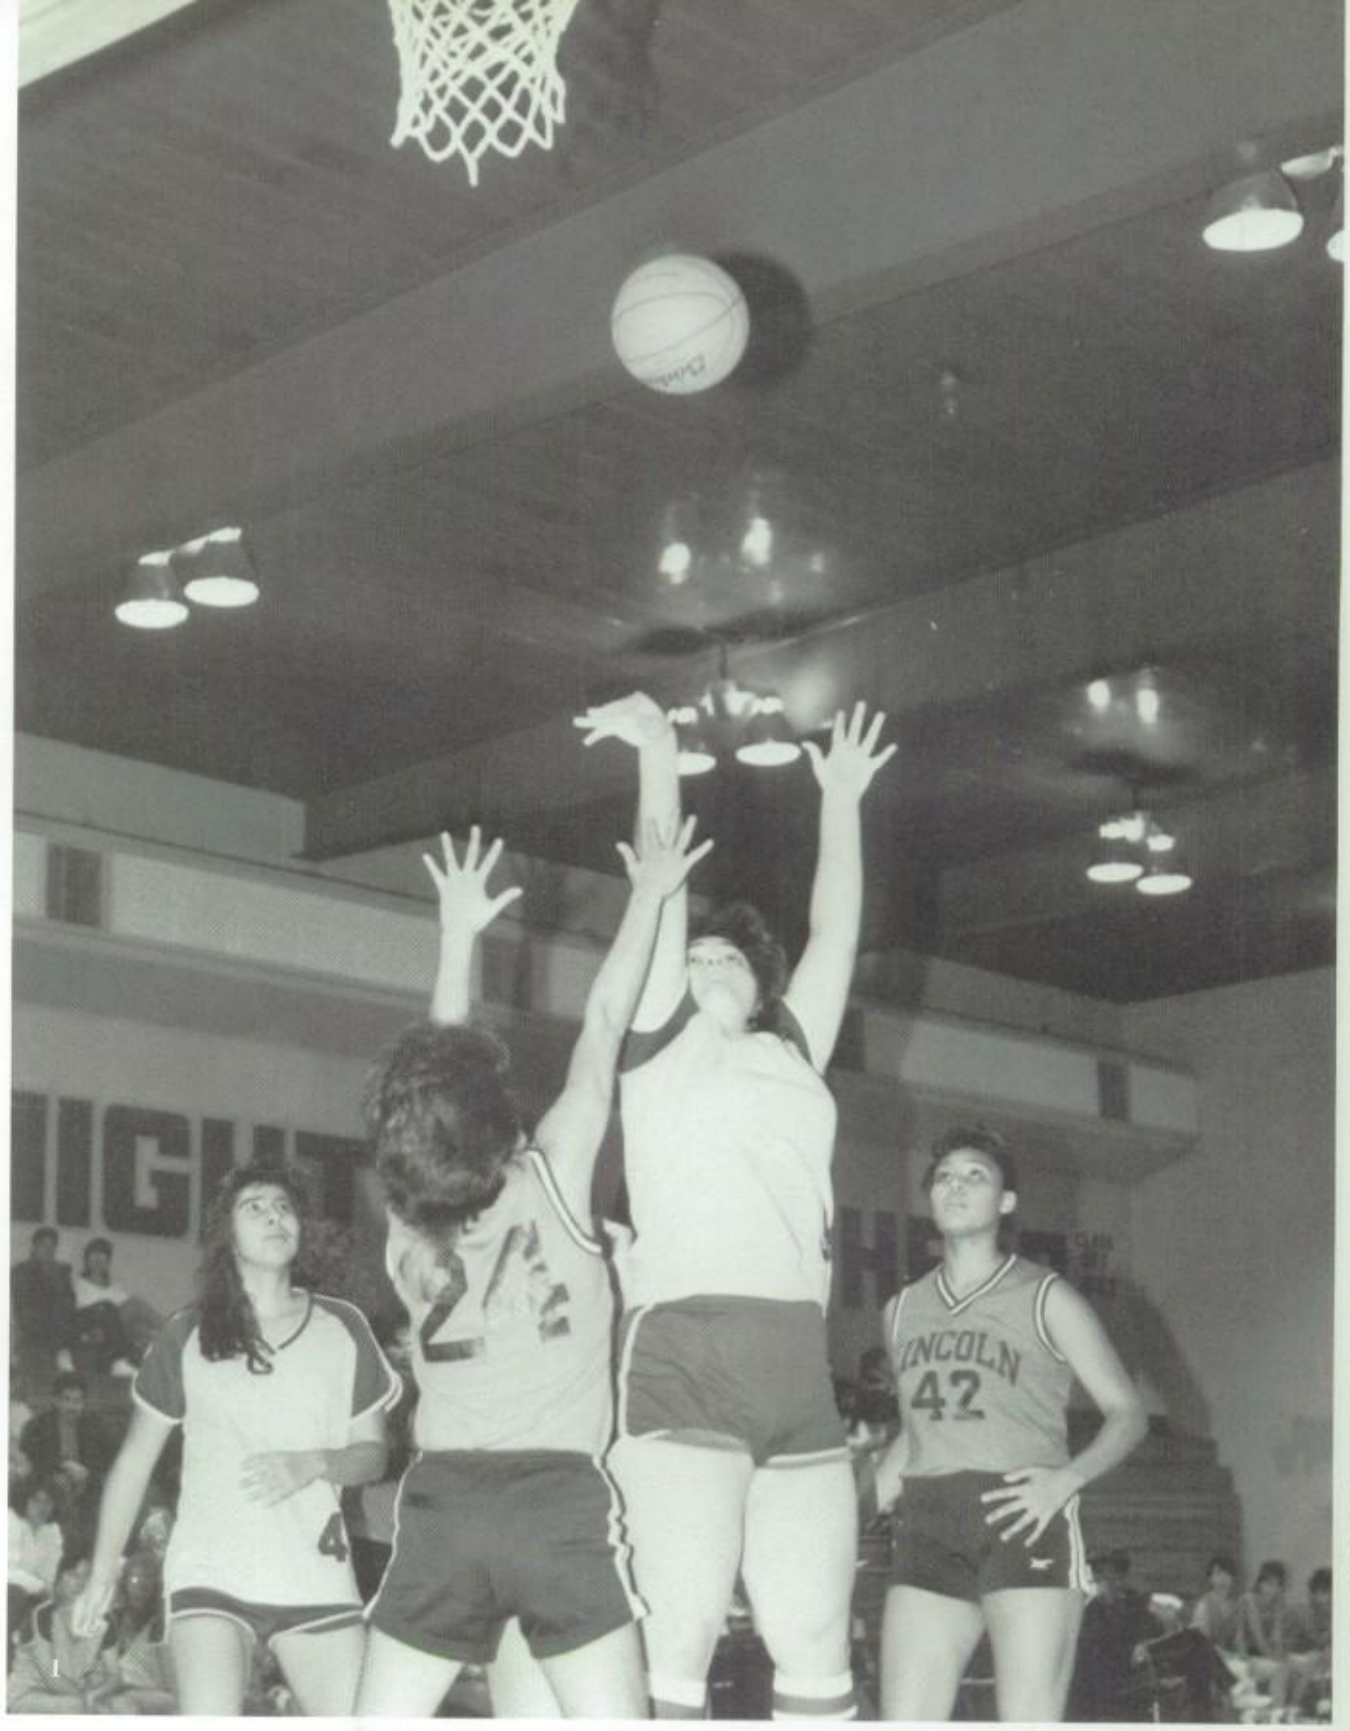
Teams League Champs

The joy of victory was well known to this year's Girls' Basketball teams. The varsity team with five returning players had an overall recored of 5-5 placing the team third in the Northern League. When the team competed in the playoffs, it was defeated by Garfield.

According to team member Juanita Pitpitan, the team was especially "tough, quick and aggressive." What many players will remember most about the season besides the bictories were the good times, boisterous bus trips and devotion of their coach, Ms. Chris Clark.

The Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball team was a young team eager to play. Team members Tabitha Li and Pamela Adachi agreed that "defense was tight and consistent." With an overall recored of 7-3, the team placed second in the League. Both Tabitha Li and Justine Leong were awarded JV All-League honors. Coach Clark was cited as the primary motivator responsible for the team's success.



1. Shooting high. Cecilia Becerra shoots for two points against Lincoln.

2. Attention please. Coach Clark congratulates her enthusiastic team after beating the opposition.

3. A Tiger on her tail. Pamela Adachi goes up for a lay up while a Tiger tries to block the shot.

4. Not just bread and water. Gabriela Jimenez eats pizza with her teammates before an away game.

Lift Off

To The Top

This year the Varsity and Junior Varsity Basketball teams will be remembered for their enthusiasm and heart. According to Coach Charles Donaghho, "The teams never gave up." This year the teams were hurt due to the lack of eligible players. Coach Donaghho had to put some of the juniors in place of the seniors. Even though there were some disappointments this year, the players played very well. For example, Varsity player Ronnie Lopez made 2nd team All-League.

Coach Donaghho is looking forward to his next year's teams because a lot of his players are returning. Coach Donaghho said, "If the teams have any success next year, then I will have to say thank you to the six senior players who contributed to the teams this year."

Shooting Baskets

For Points and Pleasure

The Bee Basketball team finished in third place in league. The Bees, who struggled during their pre-season games, improved as the season progressed. By the end of the season they were competitive with any team in the league. They lost three very close games which decided the league championship. The team was led by three senior guards, Sal Pasaye (Second Team All-League), Shuwing Fong and Duc Thai. Charles Poe (First Team All-League; Team MVP) and Juan De La Piedra controlled the inside game.

Unknown Sport

Made for an Exciting Season

Cross Country is the "unknown sport," according to Coach Richard Guzman. Even the players kid each other about the sport. Ernesto Lopez, team captain said, "We are unknown because nobody knows what cross country is." That statement is true; a lot of people are not familiar with cross country. The Franklin Cross Country team is in the Northern League which competes in the Greek Theatre course at Griffith Park. The course goes through a rocky canyon, up a sandy hill, and back down through the canyon to the park again.

The Franklin Cross Country team consists of four teams: Varsity Boys', Varsity Girls' Junior Varsity, and Frosh/Soph. The Varsity Boys' team ended their season with a 3-3 record; Varsity Girls' a 5-1 record; Junior Varsity team an 1-5 record; and the Frosh/Soph team a 2-4 record.

The teams were very pleased with what they accomplished this year. They set many goals and one goal was to go to the city finals, which they did but were stopped in the finals. Overall, the team tried their best and had fun.

Coach Instills

"Commitment to Perfection"

This year's Franklin Varsity Football team led by Coach Armando Gonzalez and Coach Robin Cardona completed a successful season which ended in a 3A-division city championship. For technical reasons, the city did not permit the school to keep the title.

Coach Gonzalez was the head coach in 1983 when he led Franklin to the 2A-city title. Since then, he left the coaching scene for two years to be a fire fighter. He felt that the experience of fire fighting was "too hot," and he also missed coaching, so he came back. Coming back to coaching after capturing the city title was a challenge for Gonzalez. The team was successful because of all the hard work and time they invested in practice. Gonzalez explained, "Before a team can be successful, they have to play as a team, have trust in each other, and most of all, believe in themselves."

The team had several goals this season. Their first goal was to go to the city playoffs and, indeed, they did with a league record of 7-2. But they did not take league, which was their second goal. They were beaten by Garfield.

Franklin made it to the playoffs but as a "wild card team," a team never expected to win the city title.

Although the school was asked to vacate the 3A-division title, all players who received individual awards were permitted to keep the honors for their outstanding performances.

Battle for Success

With an overall record of 6-3 and league record of 4-1, the Bee Football team did very well. The team was composed of new and inexperienced players since the experienced players went to the varsity squad.

Coach Rick Campbell worked hard with his new players and exacted strong performances. The Bee's main goal was to get the offensive game, the passing game, going. Jose Cervantes, the quarterback who had never played football before, did the job exceptionally well. After the passes were successful, the defensive game followed through.

"Our job is to prepare the players for the varsity team," said Coach Campbell. Toward this goal, the Bee team received a great deal of practice.

Bend, Stretch

Aim High

Franklin's Gymnastics team works hard practicing for two and one half hours a day stretching, jumping, leaping, balancing, posing, and perfecting routines in preparation for competition.

With lots of work and dedication, Franklin has managed to remain undefeated for the past four consecutive years in the Eastern League and with high hopes from Coach Trish Ochoa who states, "I hope that with my best competitors Esther Chung, Leonor Martinez, Edith Figueroa, and Karen Dulnuan, and promising support from some of my new gymnists, we hope to do as well as we have done in the past years. Hopefully, we'll take the league championship once again."

Aside from all the hard work, gymnastics is lots of fun as some of the girls commented. Esther Chung replied, "I think gymnastics is great." And Angie Diaz said, "It's fun competing, and you get to meet new people from other schools."

With high aspirations and tough training, Franklin's Gymnastics team shoots to the stars.

Strong Season

Ends in Third Place

The Franklin Soccer team posted a record of 2-2-4, giving them third place in league competition. The team, under the direction of rookie Coach Richard Nambu, had a strong season, with their only two losses coming against first place Belmont.

The team was faced with a difficult problem before the start of the season. The veteran coach, Jose Escobedo, could not return as full time coach. Without a coach, there could be no team, so after being asked by several players, math teacher Nambu decided to take on the job. Mr. Nambu knew hardly anything about soccer at the time, but with the help of his players and Mr. Escobedo, Nambu learned a lot and had a lot of fun. Mr. Nambu will return next year as an assistant coach, and Mr. Escobedo will again take over the head coaching job.

Franklin showed a very strong defense, allowing only seven goals in eight league games. Offense was the main problem. Said junior Peter Hansen, a foreign exchange student from Denmark, "We tried to play tough..., but sometimes we had trouble getting the ball in (the goal)." The team suffered from a problem that plagues many teams--inconsistency. Hansen explained it best. "When we played tough teams, we played well, but against the weaker teams, not so well."

Despite the two losses to Belmont, Franklin missed getting into the playoffs by only one goal. If Lincoln had either tied or lost to Marshall in their final game, Franklin would have gone on to playoffs. Although not reaching the playoffs was a disappointment, the season was marked by several strong team performances, the most impressive of which was the 5-0 win over Lincoln. The players dedicated the game to Coach Nambu.

All players and coaches agree that next year's team will be a good one. "They will be a playoff contender next year," said Coach Nambu. Player awards for this year's team went to: Odon Torres--Most Valuable Player, Flavio Argueta--Most Improved, Oswaldo Villa--Most Inspirational, and Valentin Rios--Rookie of the Year.

The Rising Stars

The Franklin Softball teams had new faces this year. This was Coach Leigh Sato's first year coaching softball at Franklin High School. She took on Ms. Rose Low's position as the J.V. Coach. Coach Rose Low began coaching the Varsity Softball team. The J.V.'s planned to work closely with their new coach. Coach Sato improved the game, asking the girls to use their best abilities. The Varsity team also had a new coach who took her job seriously. At their first game against Belmont, the Varsity Softball team defeated the Belmont Sentinals with a score of 15-5. The team felt they had a good chance to take the league title this year. "We were stronger than last year's team and had experienced players," said Lisa Rodriquez. The team expected to maintain the strength and were confident that it would be a successful year.

Fall Short of League Title

Finesse was the name of the game for the Girls' Varsity Tennis team. Or was their motto "Go, Fight, Win" as the team might say in their cheers. Coach Myra Fullerton would say "Do well, have fun, and don't eat all the food until everyone is done playing."

Overall this season, the Girls' Varsity Tennis team came short in winning the league title and the city championships, but they showed that they were a force to be reckoned with. Once again in the city playoffs, they were placed fourth for the third consecutive year. Hamilton defeated them by a close score of 3-4 in the semi-finals. Coach Fullerton commented, "They put their all into the game, and even though we fell short of becoming league champions, they remained people with championship qualities."

Although the majority of the team will be graduating, most of the players felt that they had fun despite not taking league. According to Mariana Garcia, "We put up a good fight."

Love and War

On The Courts

Starting the year off, Coach Myra Fullerton of the new Boys' Tennis Coach, tried a new strategy involving more hours practicing and longer miles to run. Coach Fullerton has coached the Girl's Varsity Tennis for four years and attained great outcomes because of the expectations she set. Development of mental and physical abilities strengthened the possibilities of winning more games.

The Boy's Tennis team, stringed with precision and power, strived to get ahead. The team once again volleyed into a great season, despite several disappointments. They were strong, determined and a well motivated team. The team consisted of relatively young players and showed great potential throughout the season.

For the Boy's Tennis team, the season has been love and war on the courts.

Blue Streak

Franklin High's track and field teams anticipated a victorious season. Franklin, which is in the Northern League, has not been victorious as a team in past years yet has always had outstanding athletes.

Training hard and running from 6 to 8 miles a day, Franklin was rebuilding a young, but talented team. We had many young athletes this year as well as many returning seniors, all with promising prospects.

The track and field events included such events as the short and long distance runs, sprints, hurdles, shotput, pole-vault, and long and high jump.

A setback which caused problems for our teams was the ineligibility rule. Many times some of the best athletes were unable to compete because they were ineligible.

According to the coaches, the following players excelled in their events: Torace Ragland, Richard Heredia, Fernando Diaz, Alex Carbajal, Carlos Martinez, George Corletto, Alfonso Lopez, and Doug Nguyen.

In the girls track team, Monica Ceballos, Arlene Salas, Trisha Carbajal, Edith Reyes, Liz Gonzalez, and Srithip Sresthaphunlarp excelled in their events also.

The track teams are a particular asset to Franklin because of the large number of students who participate and the large number of staff members who volunteer to assist at the meets.

Coach Applauds Team's Defense

This team will be remembered for representing Franklin well. Our record did not give us the opportunity to participate in playoffs, but I will remember it for its excellent defense and its ability to make unusual adjustments when we lost two important players during the season. My thanks especially go to the seniors Captain Vanessa Morales (who showed us what defensive sacrifice was all about) and Juanita Pitpitan (who returned to give us tremendous offensive and defensive consistency). To the underclassmen, if all seven of you return next Fall, no team in our league will be able to beat you! Thanks again for the last Wilson game; it was a very special present that I'll never forget.

A Set Apart

Second Year Holds Promise

This year's Boys' Volleyball teams had a new coach, and a promising future. Even though this was his first year coaching the Boys' Volleyball teams, Coach Jon Utsunomiya felt that his teams had several good spikers, but the teams were a little weak on the setting. As a whole, the players wished they had more time to practice.

The teams had a lot of advantages this year because they had many returning players, and they had a lot of talented players. At the time of the interview, Coach Utsunomiya said, "Hope the teams will make it into the play-offs."

1. The eyes have it. Duong Truong carefully executes a powerful serve.
2. Waiting is never easy. Miguel Ribancos anxiously waits for the opponent's serve.

League Champs

13th Consecutive Year

The unbeatable Franklin wrestlers won their thirteenth consecutive league title. They were certainly a team to contend with. They had high expectations and determination that enabled them to achieve their success.

Wrestling is a very physically demanding sport. It requires top conditioning throughout the season and during the off season as well. The wrestlers work out twenty-five grueling but satisfying hours a week learning new techniques and increasing their abilities for the next match. They prepare themselves by constant weight training and strengthening of the upper body. They use the "spider walk" and other exercises to build their muscles.

Their toughest competitions were against El Camino Real and San Fernando. Captain Aaron Brown feels, "There were many quality and experienced wrestlers among the schools." All and all their competitors were tough and fierce.

This year's team had only a few seniors but the majority of the sophomores and juniors had a great deal of potential. Alex Cuellar, a tenth grader, felt the the matches were very "tough" and "frightening".

Although the team placed third in city. They came away with many outstanding individual awards in city and league competition. With training and experience, next year's team promises to be packed with all-star performances.

Out of Chaos

Order Ultimately Prevailed

As I look back over the past year, there are mixed feelings in my heart. I remember the frustration caused by uncooperative members, the erasing of the computer disks and lost photographs. But these problems did not stop me from doing my job as editor. These frustrations soon changed to warm memories of hard work, encouragement and laughter.

We, the staff, overcame these difficulties to accomplish our goals, and we couldn't have done it without our advisor, Ms. Sharon Bergh. She always kept her sense of humor. She was always beside us, patient and friendly. Together we defeated the agony of meeting the deadlines.

I owe special thanks to Hong Nguyen and Justina Perez, my assistant editors, who were willing to stay after school and sacrifice weekends to help me. I also owe thanks to my staff. They did an excellent job putting this book together. They were truly the shining stars who never quit, who were always there when hard work called, in rain or shine, warm weather or cold, and even during vacations. A special thanks is extended to Alfred and Fabris photographer, Mr. Ray Cardinas, who was always available to lend his time and expertise. Hard work is our memory; our yearbook is a reality.

1. Information at their fingertips. Yearbook editor, Bach Yen Ta, and staff member Linda Wong, decide the typestyles to use in different sections of the yearbook. Entering the information is the next step.
2. An eye on the action. Former yearbook chief phtographer, James Ojeda, continues to contribute his time and skills to the Almanac.
3. Food for thought. Gary Lam and Bok-Soon Lee share ideas on the yearbook's theme over pizza.
4. Star Search. Staff member, George Gutierrez, carefully selects interesting candids for his section.
5. Entering the information age. Derrick Ng learns how to operate the new software as Mr. Greg Miller explains the procedures.
6. Seeking parent patrons. Hong Nguyen, assistant editor, encourages parents to buy patron ads in the yearbook during parent conference night.

As Starlight Fades

Franklin Panthers survived the grueling year, by aiming high and shooting their way beyond the stars. Many achievements are to be noted.

Despite the overcrowding, students found themselves joining clubs and sport teams, propelling the school toward many victories. These moments made the student body proud. Such momentous events like keeping the Wilson bell, winning the 3-A football championship game and winning the 13th consecutive wrestling championship will long be remembered.

The faculty of Franklin has given students goals and set high expectations. These expectations were challenging, but attainable. Seniors showed their appreciation and ambition by going on to college. 70% of the Palladians will be attending an institution of higher learning.

Throughout the year, frequent activities both on and off campus were planned to keep the student spirit soaring. Pizza Night, a Balloon Popping Contest, the "Newlywed Game," and Homecoming kept Franklin spirited. A special thanks is extended to the band and spirit groups for working so hard to keep Panther pride alive.

Panthers are high achievers. They know what they are capable of doing. With dedication and devotion, Panthers will continue shooting for the stars.

1. Say "cheese." Franklin quad sitters capture a yearbook photographer as the yearbook photographer captures the quad sitters.
2. Hopping cute. Pam Adachi shares her animal magnatism with a small friend.
3. Senior Advisor, Mr. John Spencer, tries to convince seniors to jump on a plane to Hawaii. Tentative plans for a post-graduation trip to Hawaii are being discussed by Senior Cabinet.
4. Donna Woo and Lim Sue Szeto concentrate on a tennis match.
5. Sal Hernandez competes in the Tommy Burger Eating Contest, trying hard to win. For $1.00, Sal and others supported this school activity.

1. All washed up. Jose Baldonado and Janet Fukuhara prepare for their first customer at the Key Club car wash.
2. Pucker up and blow. Aaron Brown assists with the mighty task of blowing up the spirit balloon for the Homecoming festivities.
3. Working on the run. Always one to use her time wisely, Ms. Kathy Hughart types in the quad during lunch.
4. Cute as a button. Araceli Rivas admires and protects a small kitten.
5. Vote here. Orlando Villanueva carefully checks each student's name and issues a ballot.
6. Hector Sanchez and Miguel Chuman are "caught" studying for a test.

1. A kid at heart. Dressing like a Panther at Halloween is Ms. Meryle Hirotsu.
2. Standing in the quad, Andre Cockrell eats his ice cream with enthusiasm and watches the pep rally.
3. Word power. David Monraz looks up words to increase his vocabulary and complete a class assignment.

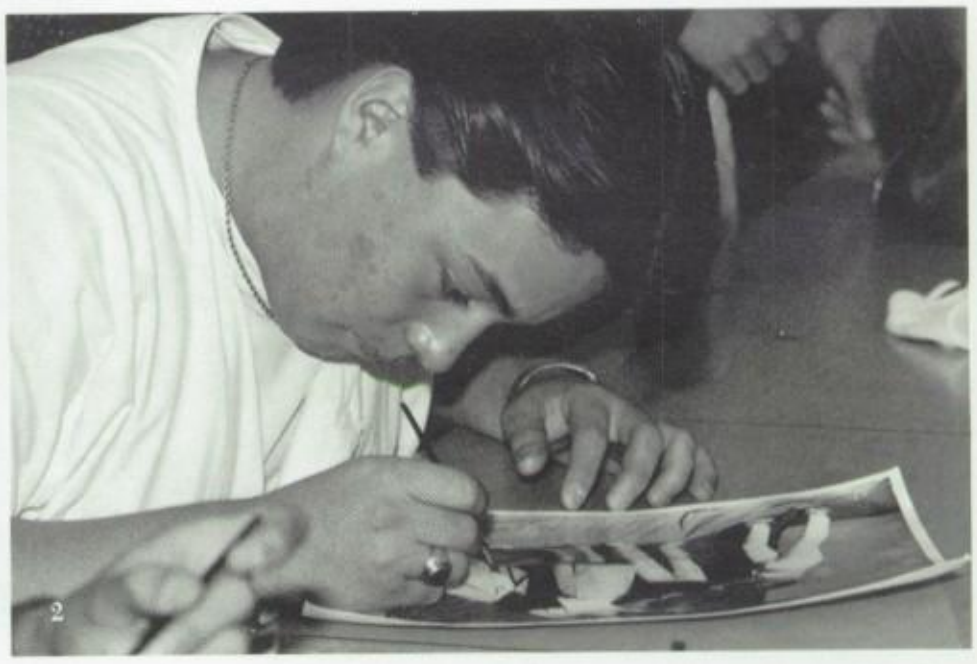
1. With a twinkle in his eye. Santa and his helpers - Laura Barrientos, Mr. Campbell,Christina Rauda - take time for a picture before going on their rounds.
2. Frank Alvarez uses a spotting technique on a picture in his humanities class.
3. She does windows! Joyce Wong, a Key Club member, cleans a car window at the car wash.



1. Natural disaster strikes farmers. A drought spread throughout the Southeast during 1986. It was the worst dry spell on record. Even after some rain, many farmers in the Carolinas, Georgia, Tennessee and Virginia were on the brink of ruin.

2. Lady Liberty. The city of New York gave the Statue of Liberty a big bash — a Fourth of July festival of song, celebrities and fireworks honoring the lady's first 100 years.

3. To spy or not to spy. Gennediy Zakharov, a Soviet U.N. employee was arrested on a subway platform in New York City and charged with spying. A week later, American journalist Nicholas S. Daniloff was arrested on the streets of Moscow and accused of spying on the Soviet Union.

One Last Look

The People, Places and Events That Shaped the Year

The year seemed marked by national and international extremes. The U.S. completed the multi-million dollar renovation of the Statue of Liberty and celebrated her centennial. A privately built plane called Voyager set world records for flying around the world without stopping or refueling. In February 1987, Dennis Connors and the crew of Stars and Stripes defeated the Australian team and returned the America's cup to the U.S., the highest award in yachting.

On a sober note, the Iran-contra scandal burst on the scene in November. Congress and the press began investigating the president's secret arms deal with Iran in an effort to secure the release of hostages, and the diversion of money to fund Nicaragua's contra rebels. In New York and Georgia, racial tensions erupted between blacks and whites.

Other countries of the world experienced their own disasters. The Soviet Union was the site of the world's worst nuclear disaster at Chernobyl. Terrorism plagued France and the Middle East. In Istanbul, Turkey, for example, Arab terrorists stormed a Jewish synogogue in September and killed 20 worshippers. From below Lake Nios in Cameroon, a bubble of scalding gas surfaced. The gas, carried by winds, killed 1700 people and left plants and animals similarly devastated.

Closer to home, voters in California re-elected Governor George Deukmejian. His rival, Mayor Tom Bradley, returned to Los Angeles where he continued to be the first mayor ever elected to four consecutive terms. In February 1987, Assemblywoman Gloria Molina became the first Latina to serve on the City Council. She represented the newly created 1st District. Issues that concerned Angelinos included the safety of the city busses, the location of a new jail, the proposed Metro Rail, the ever increasing homeless population, and the spread of AIDS.

At the beginning of the school year, Franklin's student enrollment was "CAPed," meaning enrollment was limited. Students enrolling later were sent to other school sites. New bungalows were added to deal with the housing crunch, and plans were discussed to add to the physical plant by buying adjacent property. The fire-damaged bleachers were repaired. Program Outreach was established on campus by state law to help students stay in school. Many teachers at Franklin and other city schools staged a one-day boycott attempting to get higher wages. A variety of new clubs were created - French, Latino, Spanish, Korean, Calculus, FHA-HERO - as student interests diversified.

In summary, it was an emotion-packed and thought-provoking year for the Franklin community. The following pages contain some of the major news events from January 1986 to January 1987. The photos were taken by Associated Press and were supplied, along with captions, by Wide World Photos.

1. No thaw in Cold War. President Ronald Reagan and Soviet Party Leader Mikhail Gorbachev met in Reykjavik, Iceland, for a two-day summit in October to discuss arms control. The two leaders reached an impasse on testing of the U.S. strategic defense initiative ("Star Wars") weaponry.

2. A show of force. U.S. Air Force and Navy jets attacked five targets inside Libya under cover of darkness in April 1986, delivering a response to what President Reagan called the "monstrous brutality" of Libyan-backed terrorism. One of the targets was the Libyan Naval Academy, pictured to the right, located outside Tripoli.

1. Camelot remembered. Caroline Kennedy, who captured America's heart as a little girl romping though the White House, married Edwin Schlossberg, a New York businessman and artist in Hyannis Port, Massachusetts on July 19, 1986.

2. Bipartisan effort pays off. The president signed into law in October 1986 the broadest tax overhaul in generations. The bill is expected to cut taxes for most workers while paring some prized deductions and boosting the tax burden on corporations. Rep. Dan Rostenkowski (Ill.-D) headed the House delegation on tax overhaul and Sen. Bob Packwood (Ore.-R) headed the delegation from the Senate.

1. Stars to remember. Among the celebrities who died in 1986 were singer Kate Smith, famous for her rendition of "God Bless America," on June 17 at the age of 79; Benny Goodman, the King of Swing, died June 13; James Cagney, one of Hollywood's famous toughguys, died on March 30 at the age of 86; and Ted Knight, best known for his role in the T.V. series The Mary Tyler Moore Show, died on August 26 at the age of 62.

2. The Giants victory. New York Giants coach Bill Parcells is carried off the field after the Giants defeated the Denver Broncos - 39-20 - in Super Bowl XXI in Pasadena, California on Sunday, January 25, 1987.

3. The growing crisis. In November 1986, the American press discovered that secret negotiations took place between Iran and the U.S. Apparently, weapons were exchanged for the release of hostages held in the Middle East. The full ramifications of this scandal are yet unknown.

4. Fit for a king. Britain's Prince Andrew married Sarah Ferguson ("Fergie") in July at Westminster Abbey in a spectacle that mustered the pomp and glory of Britain's 920-year monarchy. Andrew is the queen's second son and fourth in line to the throne.

1. Changing of the guard. After 20 years of ruling without serious challenge, Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos was forced from office amid charges of corruption and scandal. The new president, Corazon Aquino, faced political and economic turmoil. In February 1987, the citizens of the Philippines voted overwhelming to re-affirm support for the Aquino government and the leader affectionately known as "Cory."

2. Winners of the World Series. New York Mets Gary Carter is lifted in the air by fellow player Jesse Orosco following the Mets 8-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the seventh game of the World Series at New York's Shea Stadium in October 1986.

3. Terror of the streets. Some call it "crack," others "rock." Whatever its name, this refined, smokable form of cocaine may be the most addictive narcotic ever sold on the streets of America.

Nuclear Disaster

Sometime in the future
or even in the present
We're all going to lead the life of the peasant
'cause whomever it is, Harry, Dick, or Tom Sooner or later he will drop the BOMB.
Your life will be threatened by a nuclear warhead
When it comes time, you'll end up dead.
If you die you'll be considered blessed
To not have to live through all the mess,
The agony, the torture and the pain
The losing of your hair and your rotting brain.
You'll wake up in the morning and start to scream
"My God, what a terrible DREAM!"
